Read this with someone else as it is a Litany for Father's Day:

One: Good fathers and mothers
Two: Set rules and boundaries for their children.
One: Not to display power,
Two: Or to simply control,
One: But to make life good for the family.
Two: God, our heavenly Father,
One: Also sets rules and boundaries for his children,
Two: To make life good for the family of faith.
One: Learn, observe,
Two: Teach God's commands,
One: And life will be good,
Two: For all of us. Amen.

And for some humor this poem:

Father's Day is coming soon.
What will you get for your Dad?
Or is he dead and gone, so
That makes you very sad.

But think back on the times you had,
When he was there for you.
And you'll be glad you had that Dad,
No matter what you say or do.

And if your Dad's alive and well,
And drives you up the wall,
Just be patient, for some day you'll say
"My Dad was the best Dad of all."
